

Onions

Yellow, white, and red-purple onions grow very well in Texas home gardens. Green onions may be eaten fresh or chopped and added to salads. Bulb onions may be sliced and used on sandwiches or dipped in batter and fried as onion rings. Although onions are a source of Vitamins A and C, they are used mostly as a flavoring in other food dishes.

Grow it

Varieties

- Yellow, Candy, – 1015Y, Legend
- White, Texas Early
- Red, Candy Apple

Soil Preparation

- Before seeding or transplanting, till the soil 8 to 10 inches deep.

Planting

- Onions are a cool-season crop and can stand temperatures well below freezing.
- They may be planted from seeds or from sets (transplants).
- When seeding onions for bulbs, plant them ¼ inch deep and 1 inch apart during October.
- When the plants are about 6 inches tall, thin them to one plant every 2 to 3 inches.
- You can eat the extra plants as green onions.
- If you use sets or transplants, plant them ¾ inch deep and 3 inches apart from mid-January to early February.
- Do not transplant onions more than 1 inch deep.

Fertilizing

- Spread 2 to 3 pounds of a fertilizer such as 15-5-10 or 5 to 8 pounds of organic fertilizer over 100-square-foot of garden area.
- Measure and spread the fertilizer. Mix it into the top 3 to 4 inches of soil.
- When the onion plants have five to six leaves, apply fertilizer again to help grow larger plants and bigger bulbs. Scratch the fertilizer into the surface inch of soil to avoid damaging plant roots. Each leaf forms a ring in the onion bulb. More leaves means more rings and larger bulbs.

- For this second application, use about ½ cup of synthetic or 1 ½ cups of organic fertilizer for each 10 feet of row.

Watering

- Water once a week in the spring.
- You may need to water more often during dry, windy weather.
- Water onions slowly and deeply to help grow strong, healthy roots.

Care During the Season

- Remove weeds from around your plants to help them stay vigorous and healthy.

Insects & Diseases

- Pests should be minimal if the plants are kept healthy.

Harvesting

- Onions seeded from October to December or transplanted from January to February should produce bulbs between May and July.
- If used as green onions, they may be picked from the time they are pencil size until they begin to form bulbs.
- For dry-bulb onions, let the plants grow larger. The onions are ready when the main stem begins to weaken and fall.
- Leave dry-bulb onions lying in the garden for 1 to 2 days to dry. Remove the tops and roots and let them keep drying in baskets or boxes.
